Leading science solutions for Toxicological consultancy

Our mission is to provide excellent advice in the field of toxicology and biotechnology.

Founded by Dr. Claudia Cusan and Dr. Fabrizio Sibilla, our company is characterized by the expertise and passion we apply into every project.

Thanks to many years of experience in relevant industries gained abroad, we offer innovative and customized solutions.

We use a solid scientific method that enables us to provide advice based on concrete and reliable data. The result is presented in reports with a clear and concise structure, which are designed to meet different requirements and are easy for the user to understand. The advice is always based on solid scientific foundation, which allows us to illustrate the approach to the client in a practical way and to justify the assessments in case of questions from regulatory bodies.

In addition to providing solutions that address specific needs, our extensive toxicological knowledge covers various fields; this enables us to provide continuous interdisciplinary support. Through our collaboration with experts spanning many different areas, we can guide our clients through tailored pathways, ensuring excellent results that also meet regulatory aspects.

Our expertise and commitment also have an important role creating synergies through a seamless in-house integration providing all the support required, including through customized training courses. As evidenced by our certificates, we keep up to date on various scientific topics to ensure state-of-the-art solutions.
